Welcome New Members!

Read On To Review Some of Your Options...

Welcome member, if this is your first visit to this section as a new member then you are on the brink of a great adventure. Before you begin take a minute to finish reading this page. We will use this page to announce news, upcoming events, and new features to all our members. As a member when you come to NewRelationships you will be automatically directed to this page.

This section is personalized just for you.

Start A New Relationship

[Start A New Relationship] is the place to start. Here you will see a listing of all your profiles and you have the choice to either go immediately to a search or open the profile to make a few changes to it for a specific search. This is not the place to make any permanent changes to the profile. To do this simply go to [Your Profiles], but more on that later.

Now is the time to press the GO button. After a moment or two you are presented with a listing of members to whom you have matched. The match depending on original profile settings can be a simple search or a full cross match. Take time to scan the list and if long apply the SAVE filter for those you wish to study in detail. When you are ready SEND a reply to those that interest you the most. Remember the ACI is guide to how strong the match was. The higher the percentage the closer the search is to what you and they are looking for. We have also given you the raw scores for the I AM and I WANT so you can see how it worked out.

Match Status

[Match Status] is your control console. Everything that you are doing at NewRelationships is reported to you here. You can at a glance find out how many people have found you, replies or responses pending and other information. Each reported number in this section is a quick link to take you right to that area. Try it!

Your Profiles

[Your Profiles] is the section where, depending on your level of membership you can create new profiles and/or edit permanently existing ones. Remember only premium membership allows 10 profiles.

About Membership

[About Membership] is where you can change any personal information. Name, address, billing information, password etc. Remember, this information is confidential to us and we will not reveal this to anyone!

First, Fill Out Your Profile Settings...

Please begin by entering your Profile Settings. This information tells us how to utilize your profile in a search. The following paragraphs explain the high points of this section.

Select the next to any term for a more complete explanation.

Profile Objective: Your objective tells the system what kind of relationship you want to look for with this profile.

Default Profile: This is also your first profile, so is automatically set as your default master profile. You will be able to change this later.

Matching Choices: By choosing Crossmatch you are telling us you want to match this profile in every way possible to other members. By choosing "I Want" or "I Am" search only, you are asking the system to match only the part of the profile that describes what you want or who you are, respectively, to other member's profiles.
